Andrew Simpson
Morton Solicitors

I would like to thank you for drafting the will for both myself and my husband.

A will had been on our to-do list since we had our first child ten years ago. We have been avoided thinking about and drafting our will, for nothing other than the uncertainty of what would be involved and the reality of what we would actually do with our children in the event of something happening to us.

The service provided by Andrew was brilliant, he visited our house, talked about what would be involved then took us through the process and the relevant questions for our circumstances. So although by the time Andrew left, my husband was a little depressed thinking about his pending death, we are very pleased that we used Andrew for this service. He made a difficult subject light hearted with his approach.

Within a few days, the will was discussed, signed, witnessed and completed.

I wouldn't hesitate in recommending Andrew Simpson to anyone looking for a will to be drafted or if they need advice in his specialist field.

Yours faithfully

Louise Kennedy
